Why Do People Go To The Emergency Room?

Accidents happen! A BROKEN BONE or SPRAIN can be painful and should be looked at right away.

A deep CUT may need stitches or a bad BURN may need a medicine to help it heal.

Sometimes kids get SICK. A high fever, stomachache, or even an earache can need a doctor fast.

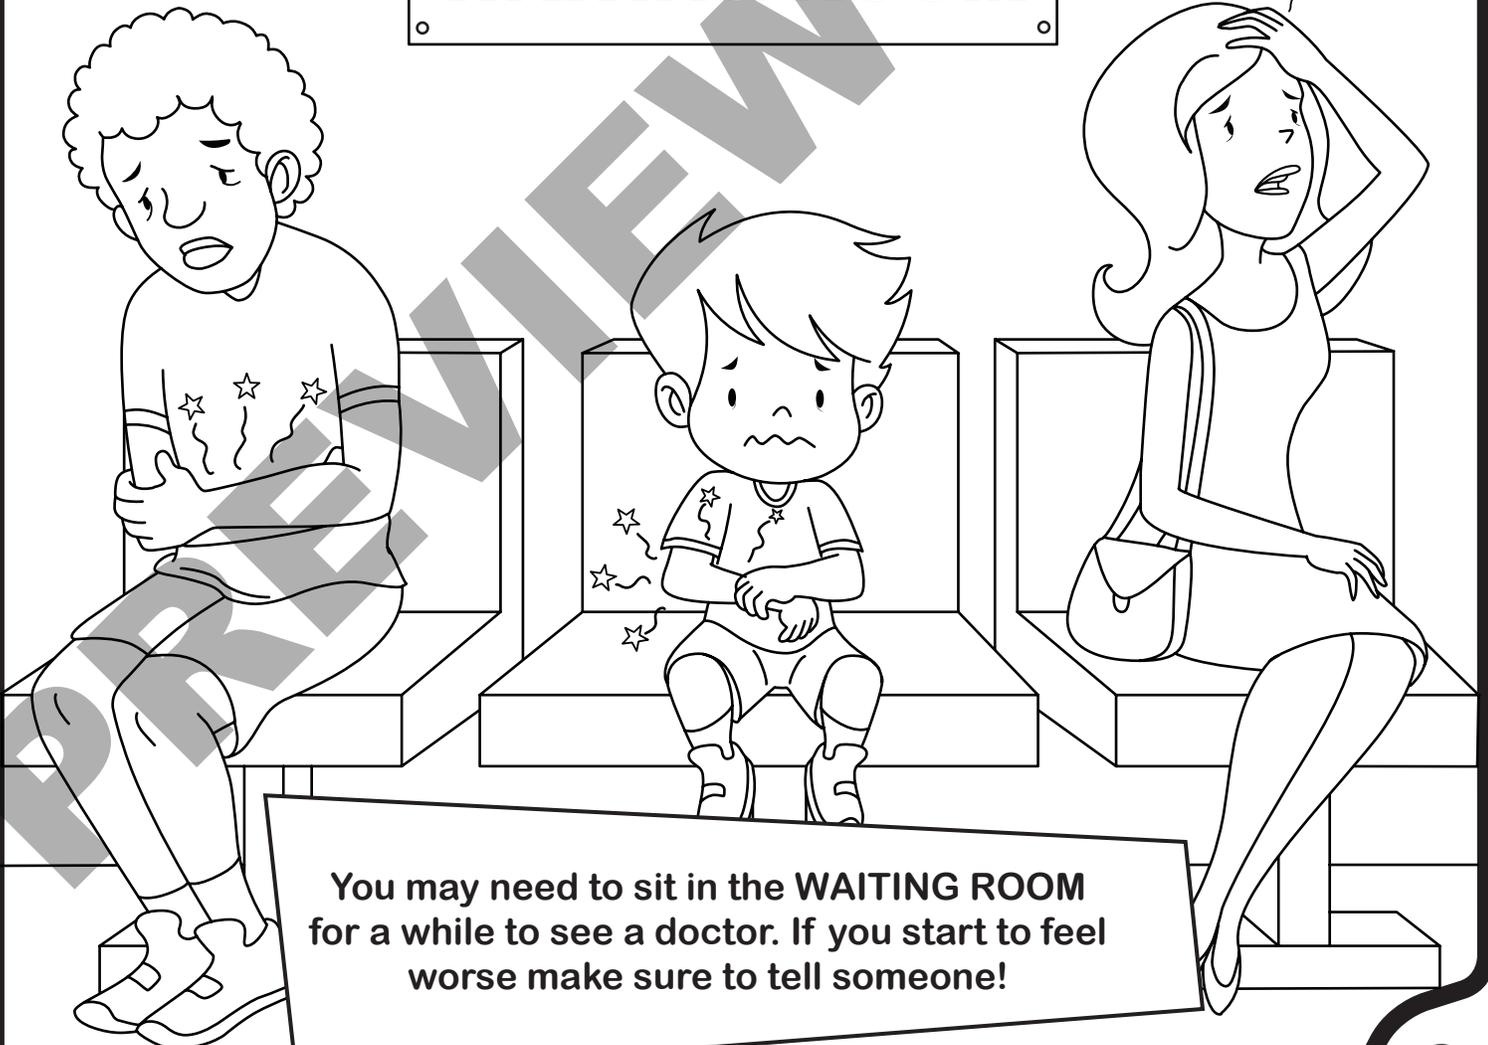

If you are sick or hurt and need help right away you go to the Emergency Room. Doctors and nurses are there day and night, ready to help.

What Will Happen in the ER?

The first person you will meet is a TRIAGE NURSE. They will take your temperature, heart rate, and blood pressure. They will check how sick you are. The SICKEST people always go first.

WAITING ROOM

You may need to sit in the WAITING ROOM for a while to see a doctor. If you start to feel worse make sure to tell someone!

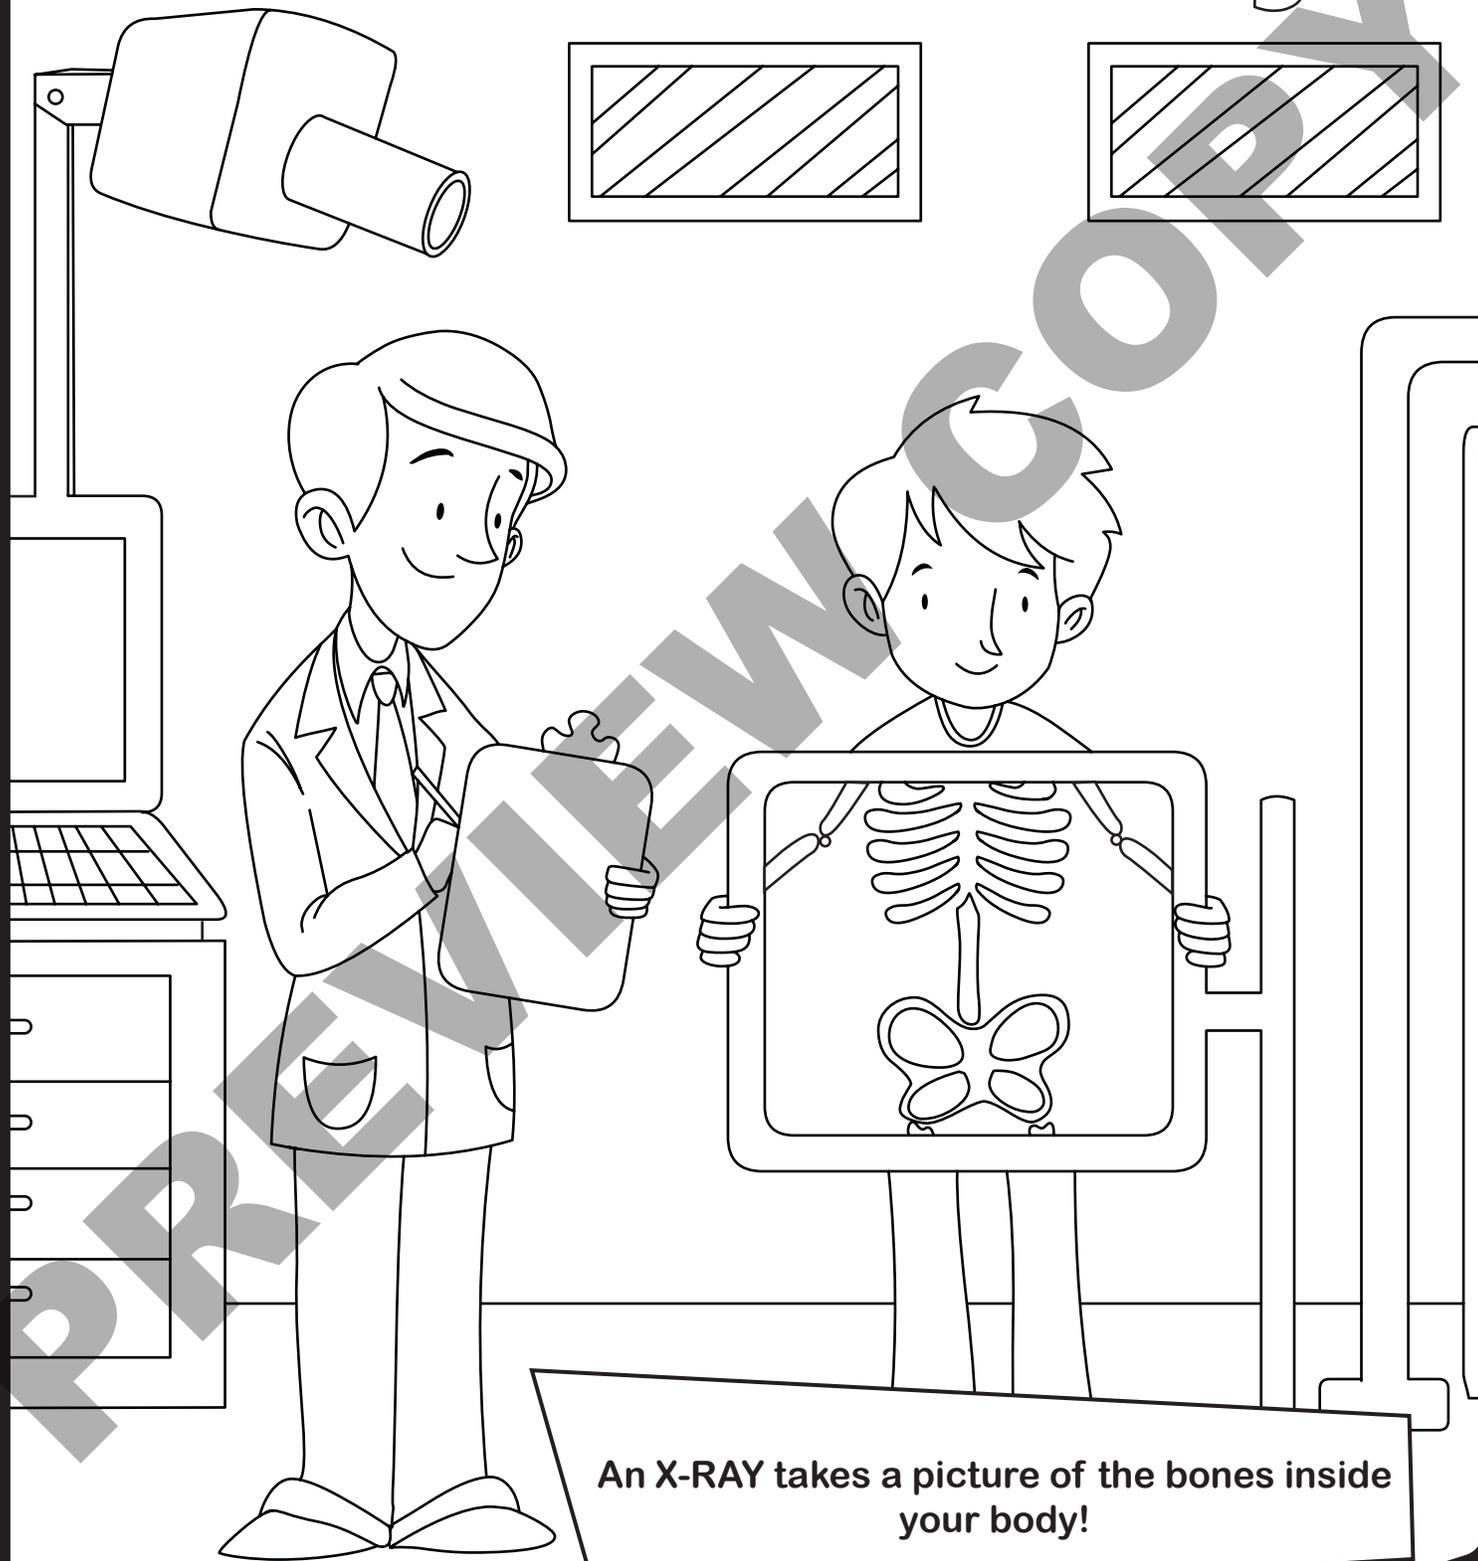

Time to See the DOCTOR!

When it is your turn, you will go to an EXAMINING ROOM.
A doctor will listen to your heart, look at any injuries, and talk about why you are feeling bad.

The doctor may need to order TESTS. Don't be scared! Tests help doctors figure out why you are sick or hurting.

TESTS help the Doctor Know What is Wrong

An X-RAY takes a picture of the bones inside your body!

A trip to the Emergency Room usually lasts a couple of hours.
A doctor may want you to stay longer to make sure you get better. Hospitals have beds you can sleep and rest in to make sure you get healthy fast.

Always Remember:

- Tell the doctor or nurse if something still hurts
- Follow the doctor's instructions so you can feel better
